CHARITIES
ARCHDIOCESE OF DENVER

2019 ANNUAL REPORT

OUR MISSION

As the charitable arm of the Archdiocese of Denver, and inspired by God's love and compassion,
Catholic Charities extends the healing ministry of Jesus Christ to the poor and those in need.

REBUILDING LIVES,
ONE VULNERABLE
MOMENT AT A TIME

"You shall love your neighbor as yourself." – Matthew 22:39

Throughout northern Colorado, Catholic Charities of Denver has been actively answering the call of Jesus to serve those struggling with difficulties due to poverty and other challenging circumstances. We are committed to doing everything we can to serve the poor and marginalized because that is what we are called to do. Since our inception in 1927, we have demonstrated this love for our neighbor by the charity we provide to those in need. We often describe ourselves as the hands and the feet of Jesus.

During the Depression, our first director, Msgr. John R. Mulroy, focused our efforts on child care, health services and other social actions. Since then our services have evolved. Our goal is to serve people facing difficulties at every age and stage of life. We strive to set them on a trajectory of success by addressing the cause of the issue. The evolution of these services is known as a "continuum of care."

At Catholic Charities, the continuum of care programs offered through our multiple ministries serve the whole person. To end the cycle of poverty, our services provide a hand up rather than a handout. We continued to improve our methodology, our understanding of the vulnerable moments facing our clients, especially women, and our facilities. We embrace trauma informed care methodologies to understand, respond and recognize the effects of trauma so we can get to the root cause of their problem. We are also on the forefront of serving women who are vulnerable and marginalized. As the largest providers of shelter services for women in the state of Colorado, we recognize there are many reasons why they are experiencing trauma. With the depth and breadth of services we provide, we can address many of their health, wellness and financial needs. Whether they are an expectant mother or a senior facing homelessness, we can help them overcome their challenges.

We are also improving our facilities to better serve those in need. When Samaritan House opened its doors 33 years ago, we revolutionized the way to provide shelter. Samaritan House is currently undergoing a three-year, $6 million renovation, which will also allow us to update and revitalize the programs we offer. These programs are critical in providing our clients dignity and hope. The first of three phases was completed in September of 2019 with the re-opening of the Family Floor. We added more family rooms, including one to accommodate larger families, and also improved the common areas, bathrooms, training center, teen center, children's playroom, and the computer lab. I invite you to go to samhousedenver.org/renovation to see all the renovation details, which will continue through 2020 and 2021.

Throughout this annual report, please take a moment to meet the many families who we have served and whose lives have been changed forever because of the Catholic Charities ministries. We have also included references from Sacred Scripture that guide our work each day and give us reason for our hope.

As always, we could not do it without the commitment of our valued employees, our gracious volunteers and generous donors. From all of us at Catholic Charities, we appreciate you and thank you.

God bless,

Darren A. Walsh
President & CEO

WHO WE ARE

Catholic Charities of Denver is one of the largest and most effective social service organizations in Colorado, founded in 1927. We serve tens of thousands of people in crisis annually. We offer shelter, affordable housing, early childhood education, counseling, emergency services, rent and utilities, employment, food and clothing, case management, family and senior services, and much more. We collaborate with corporate partners, local businesses, nonprofit organizations, government agencies, medical facilities, educational institutions, parishes and other community partners. We work to alleviate and find solutions to some of the most pressing challenges that women, men and families in our community face each day.

WHO WE SERVE

We serve everyone in need. Inspired by the Gospel of Matthew, Chapter 25, we ask... Are you hungry? Are you tired? Are you cold? Are you sick? Do you need comfort? Do you need a place to sleep? If a person answers “yes” to any of these questions, we can help.

WHAT SETS US APART

Continuum of Care: At Catholic Charities we serve along a continuum of care, addressing each family's or individual's unique needs at every age and stage of life. We served 105,365 women, men and children in need across northern Colorado in fiscal year 2018-2019. Among those we help are pregnant women in poverty, veterans experiencing homelessness, and vulnerable seniors.

Good Steward of Financial Resources:

Of every Catholic Charities' dollar, 86 cents went directly to programs to serve those in need.* For four years in a row, we have received Charity Navigator's highest rating (four stars) on financial measures, accountability and transparency.

Commitment to Goals:

We operate with a “hand-up” rather than a “hand-out” approach, helping people out of poverty and providing services that foster long-term goals and encourage independence. We recognize the dignity and uniqueness of everyone we encounter.

For the first time in a long time Sharon and her 12-year-old son Tre rolled up their sleeves and baked a batch of cookies together. It was anything but ordinary, because they didn't have a kitchen or a home for almost two years.

"Kind of round it up like a little ball," Sharon instructed her son. "And then about two inches apart."

Sharon worked for 22 years in the mortgage industry before her husband became ill and their lives spiraled out of control.

"Tre and I actually slept behind a dumpster," she shared. "I'm not proud to share that, but it's a reality. That was probably one of the hardest nights of my life, because I sat there and cried the entire night."

Samaritan House shelter gave Sharon support and compassion – the key ingredients to helping her find work she loves and establishing a home.

"God sent me on this path," Sharon said. "He knows where I'm going to end up...and it's gonna be good."

Sharon and her son recently adopted a kitten after moving into their apartment. They're grateful for all Samaritan House did for them.

When Verble and Pam decided to tie the knot, they had their ceremony at their favorite place—their home at Madonna Plaza.

The pair exchanged vows on June 13, 2019, in the dining room of the three-story apartment complex in Commerce City, one of Archdiocesan Housing's 30 properties that provide low-income, service-enriched housing in northern Colorado and Wyoming.

Their neighbors helped with decorations and baked a wedding cake. They also helped pay for a preacher to marry them.

They exchanged vows and cut a cake, celebrating their love with family and friends.

Everyone at the complex is nice, they said.

"They treat us right and they're dependable," Verble said.

He first moved into Madonna Plaza in 2007, Pam coming later in 2009. The couple first met through a friend. In time, they realized they cared for each other.

"My life really changed since I met him," said Pam, who left behind struggles with homelessness and domestic violence.

After Verble lost his home, he applied for affordable housing.

"When we came here, we didn't have nothing," Verble said.

Now the couple is active in resident activities and helps their neighbors. Verble volunteers to check heart monitors and also cares for Pam when she's sick. They participate in weekly resident activities, including bingo or birthday celebrations, and attend Genesis Missionary Baptist Church, where he was baptized and is now a deacon.

"I'm planning on being with him the rest of my life," Pam said.

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

Jennifer felt stressed at home with the father of her children and needed to leave. With a one-year-old son and another one on the way, she packed her bags and came to Colorado. When she arrived in Denver, Catholic Charities helped her through it. She came to the Samaritan House shelter's family floor and later gave birth to her son. "As we transitioned from homelessness to having a place of our own, the staff helped us from completely breaking down mentally and emotionally," she said. "We still felt like we had a part of our lives after losing so much." Through Catholic Charities network of services, Jennifer was connected to the Early Childhood Education's prenatal program to help with her newborn. Then they also enrolled her son into the Early Head Start program. Jennifer said her oldest son quickly showed improvement after learning his ABCs and counting. "They say it takes a village and sometimes it takes a couple of villages when you have more than one (child)," she said.

"Catholic Charities has helped us become a closer family and provided independence not only to myself but in my children as well."

Jennifer is now active on the Early Head Start's parent group and regularly attends social events. She is rebuilding her life with her sons—now 2 years old and almost 1 year old—in their new apartment. She couldn't be happier that they have a safe environment to learn and a home to come back to everyday.

"Our hopes and dreams are to become more self-sufficient so that we can then share the compassion, kindness, and knowledge to others less fortunate like us," Jennifer said.

Reilly, 21, was working full time when she suspected she was pregnant. She came to Marisol Health for a free pregnancy test and met with a family development specialist. Her boyfriend was supportive although overwhelmed. They both needed help and support. Through the Marisol Health mentoring program, Reilly received emotional support and resources to prepare for her life as a new mother. She also received assistance to apply for Medicaid and search for a new job. Reilly couldn't have felt more special after getting donated clothing. Reilly gave birth to her healthy baby girl. She continues to meet regularly with her mentor for parenting support and attends the Marisol Moms postpartum group. She now works as a nanny. She couldn't be happier with her new life as a mom! "I believe that it was no coincidence that I found Marisol Health when I did," Reilly said.

"I'm glad that I talked to them before anyone else about my pregnancy, because they gave me the support that I may not have received at other places. They didn't even know me at the time, but they did not come to me with judgment or doubt. It was nothing but love."

The services and support they offer to students and their families in our Catholic Schools has become an important part of the integral human formation we offer to the children in our schools; we’re not just concerned with the mind, but also the soul, body, and heart. St. Raphael Counseling makes it possible for us to offer this formation in a manner where there is no question that the love of Christ will be extended to our children and families through their counselors.”

“My husband and I are looking to help it get us to the next level,” said Jacquelin, 29, who recently gave birth to her second child. “It felt good. It was just cool to see how everyone volunteers their time, and they just want to help.”

The couple came to Colorado from Michigan to pursue their dreams and launch their own businesses in graphic design and food truck services.

They moved close to family and grew a network of friends but needed some support while she was pregnant. The government’s Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program referred them to Little Flower in Aurora.

“I’m glad to know the resources are there,” Jacquelin said. “People are there to offer this help. It just shows the goodness of humanity.”

It helped the couple save on the cost of diapers and alleviate costs with their 2-year-old. They hope to come back and receive some clothing. They don’t view the assistance as a negative but as a helping hand along their journey.

“It takes a village,” she said about raising a family. “It’s cool to be a part of that village.”

FAITH IN ACTION

“Before I formed you in the womb
I knew you,
before you were born,
a prophet to the nations
I appointed you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

Faith in Action provides opportunities to serve the Lord in a tangible way, whether in volunteering with Catholic Charities to serve those in need — or in public activities that defend life, marriage and religious liberty.

including Prayer in the

and the annual Celebrate Life Rally and March

Volunteers are the lifeblood of the ministries of Catholic Charities and provide opportunities for those in our communities to put their faith into action in a tangible way. The lives of those people we serve — from a family experiencing homelessness to a woman seeking diapers for her infant or a senior citizen needing assistance — are changed by those who give of their time and talents.

Faith in Action is also a way to share the gospel of Jesus Christ through word and deed in the public square, including working with other faith communities to rally around the defense of life from conception to natural death, marriage between a man and a woman, and religious liberty. To date we are working with Colorado Christian University, The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. We have held public events, and are constantly seeking new partners, to create a unified front against the culture of moral relativism.
